

---

Export Static Content Set To No By Default

Posted by FidelGonzales - 2007/01/26 18:29

---

Although very minor, I believe it would be highly beneficial for those with a lot of content and a lot of static content to have the default value of the export to be set to "NO." This way, should someone forget to select it, a lot of content would not be inadvertently imported.

=====

Re: Export Static Content Set To No By Default

Posted by Steve - 2007/01/27 09:18

---

When first added the choice of including static content I was going to do just that but when testing it was easier to have it set to yes.

So I may change it to no by default in the next release.

=====